RONALD CHARLES HESS,

Plaintiff,

v.

JUSTIN JONES, et al.,

Defendants.

By _____
No. CIV 12-366-RAW-SPS

OPINION AND ORDER

Plaintiff, a former inmate at Lexington Correctional Center in Lexington, Oklahoma, filed this civil rights action under the authority of 42 U.S.C. § 1983, seeking monetary damages for his alleged wrongful incarceration. The defendants are Oklahoma Department of Corrections (DOC) Director Justin Jones, the Oklahoma Department of Corrections, the Rogers County, Oklahoma, Sheriff's Office, and the State of Oklahoma. Plaintiff alleges he was discharged from the DOC, but re-arrested shortly after his discharge from prison. According to the DOC website at <http://www.doc.state.ok.us/>, plaintiff's sentences in Rogers County District Court Case No. 2003-421 ended on September 23, 2012, and he is categorized as "inactive."

This is plaintiff's second case concerning an alleged wrongful incarceration. See Hess v. Okla. Dep't of Corr., No. CIV-12-313-RAW-SPS (E.D. Okla. Sept. 18, 2012). It is unclear, however, whether this case raises precisely the same claims. Furthermore, plaintiff is advised that to the extent he is seeking compensatory damages for his alleged unconstitutional incarceration, he first must prove his "conviction or sentence has been reversed on direct appeal, expunged by executive order, declared invalid by a state tribunal authorized to make such determination, or called into question by a federal court's issuance of a writ of habeas corpus." Heck v. Humphrey, 512 U.S. 477, 487 (1994) (citing 28 U.S.C. § 2254).

Nonetheless, the record shows that none of the defendants is a citizen located within the territorial jurisdiction of the Eastern District of Oklahoma, and the events of which he complains did not occur in this district. Because proper venue does not lie in this district, see 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b), plaintiffs complaint is dismissed without prejudice pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1406(a).

IT IS SO ORDERED this 15th day of November 2012.
